

KBR

Channelview, Texas

B&W Energy Services provided our engineered chemical cleaning and steam blowing services on two new ethane cracking furnaces as part of an expansion project in Channelview, Texas. KBR (Kellogg Brown & Root) contracted B&W for the new ethylene cracking furnace project.

B&W has maintained a great working relationship with both KBR and the plant owner on many projects, Channelview included. We value these working relationships and look forward to providing the professional engineering, supervision and equipment required to meet and exceed our clients expectations safely.
