B&W Energy Services was contracted to contribute pre-commissioning services to a major clean fuel project in Thailand. This project will increase the facility's crude oil refining capacity from 275,000bpd to 400,000bpd upon completion.

Our team is providing site-wide steam blowing services as part of the expansion across several of the facility's new processing units.

B&W is grateful for the opportunity to contribute to this project within the refining sector and to expand our global presence.
